Question 3: Case Study

Read the following extract and answer the questions.

A national anthem is a song that praises a particular country. This song is then officially accepted as the country's song. It is a patriotic composition that recalls and praises the history, traditions and struggles of a nation's people. It is an expression of national identity and unites people in a country. Like all countries, South Africa has such a special song.

Nkosi Sikelel' iAfrika was composed by Enoch Sontonga in 1897. Sontonga who was a Methodist teacher and lay pastor, composed this song as an IsiXhosa hymn which would soon be sung widely across Africa. During apartheid, the song was sung as a sign of resistance at political rallies and meetings.

Die Stem van Suid-Afrika is a poem written by CJ Langenhoven, who was an activist for Afrikaans to be an official language. The music was composed by the Reverend ML de Villiers in 1921.

When apartheid ended in 1994, President Nelson Mandela adopted two historically important songs as South Africa's national anthem, namely, Nkosi Sikelel' iAfrika and Die Stem van Suid-Afrika. South Africa therefore had two national anthems from 1994 until April 1997. As both the above songs had to be sung as the national anthem, it took too long. It was therefore decided to create a harmonious musical bridge between the two songs to join them into a single anthem. This combined anthem came into effect on 10 October 1997. What is significant about this combined anthem is the fact that the anthem has lyrics in five of our eleven official languages, namely IsiXhosa, IsiZulu, Sesotho, Afrikaans and English.

The protocol on respecting the national anthem is as follows:

- The national anthem should be recited with appropriate respect.
- All should stand to attention with their hands placed at their sides while singing the national anthem.
- Civilians should take their hats off as a sign of respect.
